The steamship Ganada, from Liverpool, has been out tweive days, and is over due at Halifax. We look for telegraphic advices every moment. She will bring three days' later intelligence, which wil', doubtless, be of great importance. We cannot expect much activity in any of cur markets until it is known that political affairs in Eu-rope have zettled down upon a tetter basis. Our export trade will be limited until private advices confirm the last public accounts. It will not interfere much with our importations; but, on the contrary, may hasten them having been subscribed toward the Air Line Rail Road, it is now settled that the direct railway line from New it is now settled that the direct railway line from New York to Boston will be built. The sum of one million only was wanted to commence operations, and there having been something over that amount subscribed, leaves the matter without any doubt. The towns in the State of Connecticut through which the route is to pass, have subscribed very liberally. Middletown, the point at which the road will cross the Connecticut River, subscribed some $30.000; Durham, $30.000; Portland, $35,000, and others in proportion. It is proposed to keep the subscription books open for some $200,000 more, making in all $1,250,000. It is thought that about $3,000,000, will be necessary to carry out the project in full, and it must be conceded that the result so far is full, and it must be conceded that the result so lar is auspicious of success. The towns through which this line will pass in Massachusetts, will give a handsome subscrip-tion, especially Dorchester and Brookline, and doubtless a very large sum will be secured from Boston, New York, and New Haven, each, whenever the occasion may reand New Haven, each, whenever the occasion may require it. The details of the plan are full of successful elements. The depot at Boston is to be at the foot of Pearl street, at tide water—one of the best distributing points for passensers or freight in Boston—and the form traffic from Boston through Dorohester and other towns contiguous, will be very large and remunerative. The whole line from Boston to New Haven will be under one management, which will facilitate and simplify the running details very materially. If the line is built with any degree of economy, and arranged with discretion, we can have no doubt but that it will eventually prove one of the most profitable investments in the country. Direct lines of railway between two great commercial and trading points cannet but pay well, and in this particular the Air line has an advantage over every kind of rivalry.

PHILADRIPHIA. JANUARY 4TH, 1800.—PROFESSOR C. W. Roback.—My Duar Sir.—I feel it incumbent on me to make known to the public that the calculation you made for me in my nativity, one year since, in which you said I would make a trip to Pitaburg in November, happened precisely, and on the same day, as you had sized in my nativity, by which trip I realized a clear profit of $202, and it becomes my duty to acknowledge to you, that if you had not predicted this undertaking. I should never have gone to Pittaburg. I shink that every one whe contemplates success in his business, should be in possession of one of your earefully calculated Nativities, and for the one that I obtained from you has saved me more time three times that amount, and should be continue to do so. I am sure I will make my fortune by it. I can also say, that since you applied your conjuration power on me, one year since, I have been more fortunate in business than I ever was before.—I having had paid to me a great deal of money that was due to me, which I never aspected to set. All that you told to me happened exactly as you predicted, and I have the greatest confidence in your power to with Nativities, and do recommend all to wishing more than to try I consider mine invaluable. Any one wishing more than the Nativities, and do recommend all to the property of the Nativities, and do recommend all to the subjective of the Nativities and the two the depose they will be cheerfully existed.

NEWS BY THE MAILS

GREENSBORO, Ga., Dec. 17, 1851.

Kossuth and His Reception—"Stop my Paper" to the Excitement Subsides.

I have noticed for some time, with feelings of disgust, the flattering editorials and distorted and sympathetic accounts of the arrival and glorious reception of M. Kossuth, on this continent; and permit me to say to you, as an humble patron of your paper, that I am perfectly disgusted at the mention of Kossuth's name, and I take this opportunity to request you te discontinue my paper until the excitement incident to M. Kossuth's arrival shall have subsided, as I am unwilling to see his name in any paper to which I am a subscriber.

I believe that I express the sentiments of a majority of the citizens of this State, when I inform you that it is my opinion that the principles entertained by Kossuth and his companions in exile, are too nearly allied with red republicanism to offer any allurements to an American who is inspired with that love of liberty so characteristic of true and enlightened American citizens. Fanatics and trading politicians may here find an opportunity to promulgate their enthusiastic sentiments, and render themselves conspicuous by being the first to welcome a foreign despot and bigot to our shores; but to those engaged in other pursuits than that of nurturing the viper that may eventually prove the destroyer of our prosperity and happiness, the circumstance affords nothing interesting or instructive; and we would most respectfully dissent from a participation in acts so disgraceful to Americans; and we are unwilling to offer encouragement to any establishment engaged in the diffusion of sentiments so derogatory to our character as Americans and expounders of liberty.

Politics in South Carolina—The Legislature, &c.
In making my annual visit to the South this the session of the Legislature. It is amazing to see how accurately you have understood South Ca rolina politics, which are not like politics any where else. In fact, the HERALD is the only paper which has ever fairly reflected the public opinion of all parts of our mighty country, without any at-tempt at distortion.

The policy of South Carolina is undergoing a gradual but certain change. She is no longer going to remain a mere sullen spectator of matters of general interest to the country. It is true she has lost confidence in the Union, and it may take a of general interest to the country. It is true she has lost confidence in the Union, and it may take a long time for her to regain it; but it is very certain her people have come to the conclusion that while she is in the Union, she must perform her duties to it. The co-operation men have the people on their side, although the secessionists hold the government. But this will be changed at the elections next summer. The secessionists have not yet abandoned their wild notions, and will make desperate efforts to retain power. It will be in vain. The people are with the other party, who, in addition, have the talent of the State almost exclusively on their side. I was struck with the fact that in the House, every man who impressed me at all in debate, was opposed to secession.

Since I have been here I could have sent you some sketches of debates, but they have been only of local interest. The State House is a rickety sort of patched-up affair; but they are going to build a new and handsome one. The Representative Hall is large and well lit, but is spoiled by the Speaker's desk, which is made after the model of Florence's bar, but without its elegance, for it is not of marble, but of wood, painted white. It would be better in an oyster house than a legislative hall. The Speaker, Mr. James Simmons, is a stout old gentleman, with a shining bald head and benevolent countenance. The Fresident of the Senate is the model of a presiding officer. His name is Robert Alston, and he has served a long time in the body over which he presides. Both in ferm and substance he is admirable. His manner is truly gentlemanly and dignified, and he has great despatch of business. Owing to his rapidity and accuracy, the Senate is always ahead of the House, which lags sadly in its business—very often from too much formality.

I have been very much pleased with the people about here: They are a fine set of fellows—social and high-spirited. They are wrong headed is polities; but I must say they are honest in their errors. I never, in all my Canadian Election Intelligence—Snow Storm—Severity of the Weather—Stoppage of the Lake Navigation, &c.

Our elections are drawing very near a close, and this past week has opened the eyes of three of the leading reformers to their true appreciation in so-ciety. All the prestige of their former great name and their high standing in the reform ranks, has been of no avail, and they have been most ingloriously defeated. Mr. Price, the leader in the great anti-clergy reserve movementthe most prim, smooth faced member of the last House—has been beaten by a sort of nondescript or mongrel tory. Mr. Baidwin, the late Atterney General, the a blest, most cunning, most Jesuities most simpering-faced, and most undefinable leader of the reform party, has been beaten by a farmer. who does a little pettifogging business now and again, just to keep his hand in use. Baldwin, who was looked to as the main stay of the references of Upper Canada, has been ousted from his constituency by a reformer, and thus has suffered an ignominious defeat. Mr. Morrison, one of the partners of a leading law firm in town, has been rejected by his old constituency. Merrison, who took the lead in all the reform movements of the last session of Parliament—who brought in the bill to abolish the Rectory patents, who headed the to abolish the Rectory patents, who headed the opposition on the Sectarian School clause, whe suffered a defeat on his marriage bill, and many such consonant ideas—has been most unceremeniously rejected, to make room for a reformer who may not be so loopy. The fact is, right or wrong, Upper Canada has become exceedingly tired of lawyer representation. They feel that they have been willing slaves too long, and seem determined to get rid of so uncerupulous a class. At a time when lawyers monopolized considerably more than their share of the talking qualifications of the province, they came off victorious at all elections; but somehow, our merchants and farmers are becoming possessed of so considerable a share of volubility as to enable them to baffle the lawyers with their own weapons, and all their backeliding and tamportaing policy having been thrown into the scale against them, the lawyers of this generation have suffered a defeat. Sherwood, who was outsed from Toronto, is a lawyer; Baldwin is a lawyer; Price is a lawyer; Morrison ia'a lawyer; and Sherwood, of Brockville, and Cayley, of Huron, both rejected all lawyers; and Notman, a consistent reformer, outsed by Middlesex, is a lawyer; and Sherwood, all lawyers; and Notman, a consistent reformer, outsed by Middlesex, is a lawyer; as politicians, are at a considerable discount. One thing is very evident—that instead of trying to simplify the laws, in order to make them intelligible to the mass of the people, they have gone on, yoar after year, piling up tresh additions to the statute book, so that already, in our young country, instead of being able to master all the laws by which we should be governed, it would be a herculean task to become acquainted even with their titles. Such a work is evidently the merset both that ever was contemplated; but it suited the lawyers, as a craft, to have the laws crowded with the most flagrant verboeity and the merset both that ever was contemplated; but it suited the lawyers, as a craft, to have the law crowded with the mo opposition on the Sectarian School clause, whe suffered a defeat on his marriage bill, and many
